ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Commission would like to express its deep appreciation to those who testified before the Commission as expert witnesses, the researchers and analysts who prepared research papers under contract to the Commission, and others who assisted the Commission's work by briefing the Commissioners on a wide array of economic and security issues. All these efforts helped inform the Commission's and the public's debate on issues vital to ongoing U.S.-China relations.

The Commission offers its special thanks to Ambassador Clark T. Randt Jr. and his staff in Beijing; Consul General James B. Cunningham and his staff in Hong Kong; Ambassador J. Thomas Schieffer and his staff in Tokyo; Ambassador Alexander Vershbow and his staff in Seoul; Dr. Stephen M. Young, director of the American Institute in Taiwan, and his staff in Taipei; and the Honorable Christopher Hill, assistant secretary of State for East Asian and Pacific Affairs, and his staff for their outstanding support of the Commission's fact-finding trips to Asia. The Commissioners also wish to thank the agencies of the intelligence community that briefed Commissioners on key issues of importance to the U.S.-China relationship.

The Commissioners offer special appreciation to Rona Mendelsohn, who served as technical editor of the final Report, and to the policy analysis staff for their exemplary assistance in framing the debate and assisting in the writing and editing of the final Report.

And finally, the Commissioners also express their thanks to the Commission's administrative staff and former staff members, research interns, fellows, and others who assisted the Commissioners and staff during this Report cycle by preparing research material and background information and by providing program and administrative support for the briefings and public hearings. They include Christopher P. Fioravante, Nicholas Hardy, John L. Haverty, Justin Jeng, Richard A. Komaiko, Sara Newland, Matthew J. Platkin, Steven Rao, Peter L. Ruffo, Matthew Seresin, Kenneth Standley, and J.R. Warner.
