ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Commission would like to express its deep appreciation to those who testified before the Commission as expert witnesses, the researchers and analysts who prepared research papers under contract to the Commission, and others who assisted the Commission's work by briefing the Commissioners on a wide array of economic and security issues. All these efforts helped inform the Commission's and the public's debate on issues vital to ongoing U.S.-China relations.

The Commission offers its special thanks to Chargé d'Affaires and Deputy Chief of Mission Dan Piccuta, and his staff including Geoffrey Siebengartner in Beijing, Brigadier General Charles Hooper, U.S. Defense Attaché, and his staff including Kathy Gudgel in Beijing; Consul General Joseph R. Donovan, Jr., and his staff including Benjamin Weber in Hong Kong; and the Honorable Glen Davies, acting assistant secretary of State for East Asian and Pacific Affairs, and his staff for their outstanding support of the Commission's fact-finding trip to Asia. The Commissioners also wish to thank the agencies of the intelligence community that briefed Commissioners on key issues of importance to the U.S.-China relationship.

The Commissioners are especially grateful to former Executive Director T. Scott Bunton for his exceptional professional efforts over the past four-and-a-half years in managing the work of the Commission and in the preparation of the final Reports to the Congress from 2005 through 2008. The Commissioners also offer deep appreciation to Paul Magnusson for the exemplary technical guidance he provided to the policy analysts concerning drafting of the Report, to Rona Mendelsohn, who served as technical editor of the 2009 final Report, and to the policy analysts for their outstanding assistance in framing the debate and assisting in the writing and editing of the final Report.

And finally, the Commissioners also express their special thanks to the Commission's administrative operations staff and former staff members, research interns, fellows, and others who assisted the Commissioners and staff during this Report cycle by preparing research material and background information and by providing program and administrative support for the briefings and public hearings. They include Phillip Ashworth, Rachel Bleustein, Caitlin Bowen, Caitlin Campbell, Christopher P. Fioravante, Benjamin Frohman, Samuel Lamson, Benjamin Liotta, Meghan Maloney, Brett Moore, Rachael Parrish, Ross Rustici, Matthew Seresin, C. Alex Shoucair, and Adam Teslik.
