

MR. ABRAHAM M. DENMARK
Fellow, Center for a New American Security

Mr. Denmark is a Fellow with the Center for a New American Security (CNAS). At CNAS, Mr. Denmark directs the Asia-Pacific Security Program and several defense strategy and planning projects, including The Contested Commons: The Future of American Power in a Multipolar World. He has authored and edited several CNAS reports on Japan, South Korea, North Korea, China, Taiwan, and Indonesia. He is also the American editor and author of The U.S.-ROK Alliance in the 21st Century, published by the Korea Institute for National Unification (2009), and was a contributor to Strategic Asia 2010-11: Asia's Rising Power and America's Continued Purpose, published by the National Bureau of Asian Research. He has testified before the U.S.-China Economic and Security Review Commission, and has been featured in major publications in the United States and in Asia, including National Public Radio, National Interest, Far Eastern Economic Review, Financial Times, Foreign Policy, Washington Quarterly, Time Magazine, Newsweek, and Foreign Affairs. He is a member of the International Institute for Strategic Studies.

Prior to joining CNAS, Mr. Denmark was Country Director for China Affairs in the Office of the Secretary of Defense, where he was responsible for developing and implementing strategies and plans vis-à-vis China and the Asia-Pacific region. He is the recipient of numerous government recognitions, most recently an Award for Excellence from the Office of the Secretary of Defense in January 2009. Mr. Denmark studied History and Political Science at the University of Northern Colorado, and earned a master's degree in International Security from the Josef Korbel School of International Studies at the University of Denver. He has also studied at China's Foreign Affairs College and Peking University.