

U.S.-China Economic and Security Review Commission

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

November 7th, 2013

The U.S.-China Economic and Security Review Commission was created by Congress to report on the national security implications of the bilateral trade and economic relationship between the United States and the People's Republic of China. For more information, visit www.uscc.gov or call 202-624-1407.

USCC 2013 REPORT TO CONGRESSReport Release Date: November 20th

Washington, D.C. - The U.S.-China Economic and Security Review Commission will release its 2013 Report to Congress on Wednesday, November 20, 2013, at 9:00am at a public event in room 2212 of the Rayburn House Office Building.

This year's report covers Chinese bilateral economic and trade issues, security developments in the U.S.-China relationship, and China's diplomatic efforts in the Asia-Pacific region and beyond. The report examines the nature of China's foreign direct investment in the U.S. and abroad, China's financial system and investor protections, and issues in agriculture trade and food safety between the U.S. and China. The report's analysis of security issues impacting the relationship between China, the U.S. and its allies in the region includes key developments over the last year, China's growing cyber capabilities and activities, and China's maritime disputes in the South and East China Seas. This year the report also examines China's relationships with countries in the Middle East and North Africa, cross-Strait relations, and relevant economic and security issues in China's Special Autonomous Regions of Macau and Hong Kong.

At the release event, Commission Chairman, William Reinsch, and Vice Chairman, Dennis Shea, will discuss the Commission's findings and recommendations and answer questions from the audience.