Associate Professor, LBJ School of Public Affairs, University of Texas at Austin

Sheena Chestnut Greitens is Associate Professor at the LBJ School of Public Affairs at the University of Texas at Austin, where she directs UT's Asia Policy Program, a joint initiative of the Strauss Center for International Security & Law and the Clements Center for National Security. In 2022, she is also concurrently a Jeane Kirkpatrick Visiting Fellow at the American Enterprise Institute (AEI). Her research and policy work focuses on American national security, East Asia, and authoritarian politics and foreign policy, especially China and North Korea. Her first book, Dictators and Their Secret Police (Cambridge, 2016) won several awards, and she publishes widely in academic, policy, and media outlets. Dr. Chestnut Greitens is currently finishing her third book, which focuses on internal security and Chinese grand strategy. She holds a doctorate from Harvard University; an M.Phil from Oxford University, where she studied as a Marshall Scholar; and a bachelor's degree from Stanford University.

Dr. Greitens last testified at the Commission's January 2021 Hearing "U.S.-China Relations at the Chinese Communist Party's Centennial."
