

Dr. Kevin Pollpeter

Senior Research Scientist at the Center for Naval Analyses

Dr. Kevin Pollpeter is a Senior Research Scientist at the Center for Naval Analyses (CNA). He researches Chinese defense and national security issues, focusing on China's space program and information warfare. Before joining CNA, Dr. Pollpeter served as deputy director of the University of California Institute on Global Conflict and Cooperation's project on the Study of Innovation and Technology in China (SITC), as deputy director of the East Asia Program at Defense Group Inc., and as a researcher at the RAND Corporation. A Chinese linguist by training, Dr. Pollpeter holds an MA in international policy studies from the Monterey Institute of International Studies and a Ph.D. from King's College London.

Dr. Pollpeter has testified before the Commission three times, most recently at its 2019 hearing titled "China in Space: A Strategic Competition?"