

Ivan Kanapathy

Senior Associate (Non-Resident), Freeman Chair in China Studies, Center for Strategic & International Studies

Mr. Ivan Kanapathy is an adjunct professor in the Asian Studies Program at Georgetown University's Walsh School of Foreign Service. He is also a non-resident senior associate with the Freeman Chair in China Studies at the Center for Strategic and International Studies and a non-resident senior fellow at the Center for Strategic and Budgetary Assessments. From 2018-2021, Kanapathy served as director for China, Taiwan and Mongolia and deputy senior director for Asian affairs on the National Security Council staff. A former U.S. Marine Corps naval flight officer, he previously served as a military attaché in Taiwan and a F/A-18 instructor at the U.S. Navy Fighter Weapons School (aka TOPGUN).

Mr. Kanapathy has not previously testified before the Commission.