

David Lin
Senior Director for Future Technology Platforms, Special Competitive Studies Project

David Lin is the Senior Director for Future Technology Platforms at the Special Competitive Studies Project (SCSP). Prior to joining SCSP, David served for 12 years at the U.S. Department of State and the Central Intelligence Agency, focusing on China and technology policy. His expertise includes China's industrial strategy, data and cybersecurity policies, and digital infrastructure development. During his government tenure, David led multidisciplinary teams providing analytic support to high-level U.S.-China policy processes and served as an economic officer responsible for the tech portfolio at the U.S. Consulate in Shanghai. Prior to his government service, David worked at Computer Sciences Corporation (now DXC Technology), where he advised government clients on technology and national security initiatives. He holds a Master's degree in Security Policy Studies and a Bachelor's degree in International Affairs from the George Washington University.

Mr. Lin has not previously testified before the Commission.