

David Fishman
Principal, Lantau Group

David Fishman is a Principal at the Asia-Pacific focused energy consultancy the Lantau Group. His areas of expertise cover regulatory and economic intelligence for the Chinese power sector, including solar, wind, coal, nuclear, hydro, transmission grid, and power markets. His specific project experience includes power market tariff forecasting, generation asset commercial due diligence, Chinese energy policy intelligence and forecasting, China business matchmaking, and green power procurement support for multinationals operating in China. Prior to joining TLG, David was a Managing co-director and shareholder of the nuclear energy-focused consultancy Nicobar Group in Shanghai.

Mr. Fishman holds a joint MA from Johns Hopkins SAIS and Nanjing University in International Relations and Energy Policy. He is a native English speaker and fluent in Mandarin.

Mr. Fishman has not previously testified before the Commission.