

As the China lead for the Center for the Governance of AI, Jeff researches China's development of AI at the Future of Humanity Institute, University of Oxford. His work has been cited in the Washington Post, South China Morning Post, MIT Technology Review, Bloomberg News, Quartz, and other outlets. A fluent Mandarin speaker, he has worked at the U.S. Department of State and the Hong Kong Legislative Council. He is also completing his D.Phil. in International Relations as a Rhodes Scholar at the University of Oxford. For the past year, he has written a weekly newsletter on AI in China that has grown to more than 4,000 subscribers.

Mr. Ding has not previously testified before the Commission.