

Bill Westman
Senior Vice President of International Affairs, North American Meat Institute

Mr. Bill Westman is the senior vice president of international affairs at the North American Meat Institute in Washington, D.C. Previously, Mr. Westman served as a foreign service officer for the USDA Foreign Agricultural Service. During his career he served in China, Germany, Brazil, Venezuela, Panama, and the Dominican Republic. Mr. Westman received a Masters of Science degree in forestry from Virginia Tech and a natural resource management degree from Cook College, Rutgers University. He speaks Spanish, Portuguese, and Mandarin.

Mr. Westman testified at the Commission's 2013 Hearing on "China's Agriculture Policy and U.S. Access to China's Market."