

Michael Hirson
Practice Head, China and Northeast Asia, Eurasia Group

Mr. Michael Hirson, Practice Head, China and Northeast Asia at the Eurasia Group, leads Eurasia Group's coverage of China, with a focus on macroeconomic and financial policies, economic reforms, and political developments affecting foreign firms and investors. Prior to joining the firm, Michael served three years as the U.S. Treasury Department's chief representative in Beijing. In that role, he engaged with China's government and the private sector on a broad set of macroeconomic, financial, and investment issues. He also worked closely with the US business community to address formal and informal barriers to accessing China's markets.

In addition to his time in China, Mr. Hirson worked on a range of international economic issues for the Treasury Department as well as the Federal Reserve Bank of New York over a ten-year period. A one-time financial journalist, he holds degrees from Johns Hopkins University's School of Advanced International Studies and Pomona College.

Mr. Hirson previously testified before the Commission in June 2017 on "U.S. Access to China's Consumer Market."