

J. Ray Bowen
Senior Economic Analyst, Pointe Bello

Ray Bowen is a seasoned analyst of the implications of Asian political, business, and technology practices for U.S. entities, and is experienced in interagency collaboration, including the review of inbound foreign investment and exports by the U.S. Government and by other nations. Dr. Bowen previously worked as a U.S. Government program manager in Washington DC, a university professor in Missouri, and a translation editor in Beijing. He received his Bachelor's in Economics at the University of Wisconsin and his PhD in Economics at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Bowen has not previously testified before the Commission