

Nadège Rolland
Senior Fellow for Political and Security Affairs, National Bureau of Asian Research

Ms. Nadège Rolland is Senior Fellow for Political and Security Affairs at the National Bureau of Asian Research (NBR). Her research focuses on China’s foreign and defense policy and the changes in regional dynamics across Eurasia resulting from the rise of China. Drawing on her twenty years of experience as a French government official, she also examines the prospects for transatlantic cooperation in research and policy related to Asia. Prior to joining NBR, Ms. Rolland was an analyst and senior adviser on Asian and Chinese strategic issues to the French Ministry of Defense (1994–2014) and a research analyst for the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (2007–8).

She is the author of the NBR report “China’s Vision for a New World Order” (2020) and the Sinopsis report “Mapping the Footprint of Belt and Road Influence Operations” (2019), as well as the book China's Eurasian Century? Political and Strategic Implications of the Belt and Road Initiative (2017). Her articles have appeared in various publications, including the Washington Quarterly, Foreign Policy, the Diplomat, and Strategic Asia, and her comments have been published by the Wall Street Journal, Radio Free Asia, and BBC World Service. Ms. Rolland is a graduate of the National Institute of Oriental Languages and Civilizations (MSc Chinese Language and Contemporary Chinese Studies) and of the S. Rajaratnam School of International Studies (MSc Strategic Studies).

Ms. Rolland previously testified at the Commission’s 2018 Hearing on “China's Belt and Road Initiative: Five Years Later.”